HOUSTON FIRST ANNOUNCES NEW CULINARY OFFERINGS IN CONVENTION DISTRICT

Avenida Houston transforms downtown into cultural destination

Downtown Houston will soon expand its culinary landscape along the Avenida de las Americas. A series of restaurants will open on the ground floor of the George R. Brown Convention Center and in the forthcoming Marriott Marquis Houston. Grotto, Bud's Pitmaster BBQ and B&B Restaurant, among other concepts, will join downtown newcomers Pappasito's Cantina and the recently-expanded Starbucks at the Hilton Americas-Houston, beginning the transformation of the convention district into the cosmopolitan destination Avenida Houston.

"With these new openings at the GRB and the broader convention district, we will have a concentration of restaurants in the heart of downtown that I hope will better serve both residents and visitors and function as a catalyst for even more development in the area," said Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner. "Houston has become one of our nation's culinary capitals, offering authentic flavors from around the world right here in our backyard. Our city has many entertainment and dining hubs, and I think the Avenida with its wide variety of options will become another great one."

Avenida Houston will serve as a walkable, pedestrian plaza that will connect visitors to the surrounding attractions, including Minute Maid Park, Toyota Center, BBVA Compass, the convention center, Marriott Marquis, Discovery Green and the Hilton Americas-Houston. In addition to restaurant offerings, Avenida Houston will feature unique art installations and programmed events.

"The creation of Avenida Houston will be a long-awaited vision come to fruition for our city and Houston First," said Dawn Ullrich, president and CEO of Houston First Corporation. (Continued, page 2...)

“Often, the GRB and convention district are the only glimpse of Houston that visitors receive and we hope to leave them with a lasting, positive impression and encouraged to return.”

HOUSTON FIRST ANNOUNCES PUBLIC ART INITIATIVE IN CONVENTION DISTRICT

Ten art installations transform district into cultural destination

Downtown Houston will soon expand its cultural landscape within the George R. Brown Convention Center and Partnership Tower along the transforming convention district, known as Avenida Houston. A series of ten art installations by local Houston artists will be placed throughout the buildings as part of Houston First's "Houston Infusion" initiative, all of which are slated to be complete by October 15, 2016. Works fabricated in a variety of media and imagined by a diverse group of artists and collaborators will explore themes of space and technology, Houston's natural flora and fauna, reuse and recycling, the city's vibrant cultural diversity and its entrepreneurial history.

"Houston is one of our nation's cultural capitals, home to world-class museums, acclaimed art galleries and a huge community of talented artists," said Mayor Sylvester Turner. "Infusing Houston's vibrant art scene into Avenida Houston will serve not only residents, but also provide visitors with a glimpse of Houston that we hope will leave a lasting positive impression."

Avenida Houston will serve as a walkable, pedestrian plaza that will connect visitors to the surrounding attractions, including the convention center, Marriott Marquis, Discovery Green, Minute Maid Ballpark, Toyota Center, Compass BBVA Stadium and the Hilton Americas- Houston.

In addition to these smaller installations, two monumental works of public art will serve as major focal points both inside the George R. Brown Convention Center, Soaring in the Clouds by Ed Wilson, and Wings Over Water by Joe O'Connell + Creative Machines, a kinetic work outside on the new plaza along the Avenida de las Americas.

"Avenida Houston and the revamped GRB Convention Center will showcase Houston's vibrant culinary and culture scenes," said Dawn Ullrich, president and CEO of Houston First Corporation. "It is unique for a convention district to offer such a comprehensive reflection of a city's personality, and we hope visitors will walk away with a positive sense of what Houston has to offer."

BOK CENTER #13 ARENA IN THE UNITED STATES

Venue is SMG's highest ranked arena in the Continental U.S.

As the venue approaches its eighth birthday, BOK Center continues to maintain its status as one of the world's busiest concert arenas. Earlier today Pollstar announced their 2016 Mid Year Top 200 Arena Venues based on ticket sales and BOK Center finished #13 in the United States and #36 in the world. BOK Center was also the highest ranked arena in the Continental United States managed by SMG, the Philadelphia-based venue operator that manages over 230 facilities, nearly 70 arenas, and over 1.75 million seats worldwide.

"We couldn't have this sustained success without the support of the loyal fans along with the agents and promoters who continue to believe in the Tulsa market," said BOK Center General Manager Jeff Nickler. "This honor doesn't belong to SMG, but also to our regional ticket buyers, sponsors and corporate partners that have supported this venue from day one."

The Tulsa venue made the #13 spot on the list, between Nashville's Bridgestone Arena and The Forum in Los Angeles and ahead of venues in much larger regional metropolitan areas like Dallas, Houston, Chicago, Phoenix, Denver, Austin and Minneapolis.

The second quarter of 2016 was highlighted by folk rock group Mumford & Sons and their first ever appearance at BOK Center in front of a sold-out crowd on April 6. The acclaimed pop superstar Justin Bieber returned to rock BOK Center for his third sold-out show in support of his new album Purpose on April 7.

"Congratulations to BOK Center staff, all local music fans and our promoter partners for achieving such a high ranking for U.S. ticket sales," said Doug Thornton, Executive Vice President for SMG. "This shows that Tulsa continues to be a strong market for live entertainment and we are thrilled to be a part of that success story."

The O2 (London) topped the overall rankings and Barclays Center (Brooklyn) garnered the top United States spot. Several other SMG facilities made the top 200 including Wichita's INTRUST Bank Arena (ranked 89th in the world) and Oklahoma City's Chesapeake Energy Arena (ranked 104th in the world). The rankings are determined by tickets sold worldwide for concerts from January 1, 2016 to June 30, 2016. Pollstar totals do not include tenant sport team ticket counts, some family shows, or SMG-produced special events.

BOK Center has already announced a stellar line-up for the remainder of 2016. Coldplay will rock BOK Center on August 25, Oklahoma native Toby Keith will perform for the first time ever at BOK Center on October 14 and legendary singer and songwriter Billy Joel will visit Tulsa on November 11 for one of only four arena shows this year outside of Manhattan. Other recently announced acts include Dolly Parton, Dixie Chicks, Korn & Breaking Benjamin and Black Sabbath.

War Memorial Stadium Staff Receive CSVS Certification

Recent incidents across the globe at various venues has illuminated the important role event staff provide in event day safety and security. But, the best prepared emergency action plans are meaningless without a trained and qualified event staff. War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock, Arkansas has recently recognized this and has invested in a serious and long-term paradigm shift in its approach to event training and qualification, by requiring its core group of event staff to earn the Certified Sport Venue Staff (CSVS) certification. The CSVS certification provides both online training and background screening and is offered by the National Center for Spectator Sports Safety and Security (NCS4) and eVerifile.

War Memorial Stadium hosts close to three hundred different types of events each year, and approximately 90% percent of those can be staffed with thirty or less frontline event staff. During the old paradigm, War Memorial Stadium struggled finding professional and qualified event staff and it was fiscally difficult to justify spending time and money on event staff who were here today and gone tomorrow. The CSVS certification is providing not only an affordable means to enhance the safety and security of events, but quality training program for the Stadium's staff. With the core group of event, required to achieve the CSVS certification, War Memorial Stadium is making positive strides providing a safe and enjoyable venue for our guests.

Lots Happening at the Curtis Culwell Center

The University of Phoenix ceremony on July 30th capped off an incredible season of graduations at the Curtis Culwell Center. This was the first season the CCC utilized walk-thru MAGs for all ceremonies. The execution was a great success as over 200,000 guests were welcomed to the facility from May to July.

The CCC also exercised some capital improvements this summer. The entire arena lighting system was converted from halide to LED lights. This will reduce both energy costs and delays in turning the lights on and off. The six arena air suites also saw upgrades as new glass half-walls were installed. This now provides an aesthetically pleasing barrier to each suite overlooking the arena bowl.

Micheal Robinson II, who serves as an event coordinator at the Curtis Culwell Center, was recognized during IAVM's Venue Connect in Minneapolis as a member of the "30 Under 30" program. Micheal has been a key member of the CCC team since August of 2014. During his tenure, he has managed the Southwest region robotics competition, multiple large-scale cheerleading competitions, sold-out concerts, and countless other events. The CCC is very proud that Micheal earned this prestigious and well-deserved honor.

Finally, the Curtis Culwell Center was selected to serve as host again for the UIL Volleyball State Tournament through 2017. This will continue a partnership started in 2013 with the UIL.
